Subject: NGO communication under Rule 9(2) of the Rules of the Committee of Ministers concerning the execution of the judgment of the European Court of Human Rights in the case of Baka v. Hungary (Application no. 20261/12)

Dear Madams and Sirs,

Amnesty International Hungary and the Hungarian Helsinki Committee hereby respectfully submit their joint observations and recommendations under Rule 9(2) of the "Rules of the Committee of Ministers for the supervision of the execution of judgments and of the terms of friendly settlements" regarding the execution of the judgment of the European Court of Human Rights in the Baka v. Hungary case (Application no. 20261/12, Judgment of 23 June 2016), in advance of the next meeting (March 2023) (DH) of the Ministers' Deputies on the execution of judgments.

Amnesty International Hungary (AIHU) is a membership-based, independent Hungarian civil society organization founded in 1990. AIHU is a member of the globe's largest human rights organization, Amnesty International, which has seven million supporters in more than 70 countries. AIHU carries out research, campaigns, advocacy, and human rights education, and empowers and mobilizes local communities with a special focus on gender equality, rule of law and right to privacy to ensure that human rights are enjoyed by everyone in Hungary.

The Hungarian Helsinki Committee (HHC) is an independent human rights watchdog organisation, working towards defending the rule of law in Hungary. The HHC submitted (together with other Hungarian NGOs) a third-party intervention in the Baka v. Hungary case, and submitted several communications to the Committee of Ministers in relation to the non-execution of the judgment in the Baka v. Hungary case, since 2019, jointly with AIHU.

The present communication concerns the execution of the judgment in particular the implementation of the general measures prescribed by the Interim Resolution CM/ResDH(2022)47 of the Committee of Ministers (CM) adopted in March 2022 (hereafter: 2022 CM Resolution).<sup>1</sup>

PRELIMINARY NOTES AND RECOMMENDATIONS

On 18 January 2023, the Hungarian government published a draft law<sup>2</sup> (Draft Law) on the judiciary for public consultation on its official website. The Draft Law was drawn up by the Ministry of Justice as part of the execution of the milestones prescribed by the European Council in the framework of the approval of Hungary's recovery and resilience plan.<sup>3</sup> The Draft Law contains a reform of the Hungarian judicial administration that aims to amend substantially, amongst others, the long-standing power imbalance between the National Judicial Council (NJC) as the judicial self-governing body supervising the administration of courts and the President of the National Office for the Judiciary (NOJ). The Draft Law is open for public consultation until 3 February 2023. It is intended to be adopted by the Parliament within the first quarter of 2023 and should become effective by 31 March 2023.

The present communication does not cover the amendments proposed by the Draft Law: on the one hand, due to the short period lapsed since its publication, and on the other hand, because the final wording of the law will be adopted by the Parliament during the upcoming months. According to the first assessment by AIHU and HHC, while the Draft Law remarkably strengthens the powers of the NJC against the NOJ President, it does not provide effective and adequate safeguards against abuse when it comes to restrictions on judges' freedom of expression.

Based on the above, as a preliminary recommendation, AIHU and HHC respectfully recommend that the CM continue examining under enhanced procedure the execution and effective implementation of the judgment in the Baka v. Hungary case in order to be able to carry out a proper assessment of the upcoming legislative reform from the point of view of the execution of the Baka case. Until the adoption of the prospective legislative amendments, AIHU and the HHC uphold all their former recommendations.<sup>4</sup>

I. CONTINUING DISMISSIVE APPROACH BY HUNGARIAN AUTHORITIES

The execution of the Baka v. Hungary judgment has been on the agenda of the Committee of Ministers since 2017. In March 2022, after over five years, the lack of progress in the execution of the required general measures prompted the CM to adopt an interim resolution, but to no avail. The dismissive approach taken by the Hungarian authorities in the proceeding pending before the CM persisted, and the Hungarian authorities did neither respond to the CM's invitation to submit an updated action plan by 30 September 2022 nor presented an evaluation of the domestic legislation regarding guarantees and safeguards protecting judges from undue interferences, to dispel concerns as to the chilling effect on the freedom of expression of judges in Hungary. Non-implemented general measures cover both the violation of Article 6 of the European Convention of Human Rights (Convention) (lack of "safeguards in connection with ad hominem constitutional level measures terminating a judicial mandate") and violation of Article 10 (lack of "safeguards against abuse when it comes to restriction of judge's freedom of expression") established in the Baka v. Hungary case.

The dismissive approach of Hungarian authorities is not only manifested by the consistent omissions in the proceeding pending before the CM. The present Rule 9 communication aims to point out that since the removal of András Baka as President of the Supreme Court in Hungary in 2012, the guarantees against undue intervention in the status and the freedom of expression of judges have remained problematic on the merits. The most recent attacks against the independence of the Hungarian judiciary show a common pattern with the Baka case, involving not only the passivity on behalf of the Hungarian authorities but also their active participation in the breach of the independence of the judiciary, both with respect to (i) the lack of guarantees against undue intervention regarding the removal of a judge from office (see below under Section II the so-called Schadl-Völner case) and (ii) the amplification of the “chilling effect” on the freedom of expression of judges (see below under Section III the smear campaigns carried out to undermine the reputation of individual judges who voice criticism concerning the state of the independence of the judiciary in Hungary).

II. LACK OF GUARANTEES AGAINST UNDUE INTERFERENCE WITH RESPECT TO THE REMOVAL OF A JUDGE [ARTICLE 6 OF THE ECHR]

II.1. Involvement of administrative leaders in an attempt to remove a judge from office remains unclarified

In 2021, the prosecution brought charges against György Schadl, President of the Hungarian Chamber of Bailiffs, according to which Schadl regularly used to give cash as an undue advantage to the then State Secretary of the Ministry of Justice, who, in turn, made use of his competence deriving from his position as deputy minister according to the interests of the person offering the bribe to him. As indicated in the investigation documents leaked in January 2022, Schadl contacted the NOJ President in June 2021 with the aim of attaining the removal of a judge from her position. According to the documents of the National Protective Service (the body investigating the corruption case), the NOJ President arranged a meeting for Schadl with Péter Tatár-Kis, the President of the Metropolitan Regional Court (MRC). At the meeting, Schadl asked Tatár-Kis to fire the judge. Schadl said in a wiretapped phone call that as a response to his request, Tatár-Kis had informed him that "he was unable to fire the judge, but he could revoke her appointment as a group leader and could achieve that she feels unease at her workplace". Irrespective of the fact that the judge concerned was not removed from office, the mere fact that the NOJ President and the president of the biggest regional court in Hungary discussed the removal of a judge with an external actor severely and gravely undermines the perception of judicial independence in Hungary and confirms the concerns regarding the de iure possibilities of administrative leaders – and through them, even external actors – to exert undue pressure on judges.

At its meeting held on 2 February 2022, the NJC urged the NOJ President to initiate a disciplinary procedure against Tatár-Kis. In a public statement issued with respect to the meeting, the NJC pointed out that "the lack of response to arbitrary managerial conduct could have an unfavorable, chilling effect on the members of the Hungarian judiciary, it may pose a threat of rendering their situation impossible in terms of professional work and livelihood. That amounts to a direct and genuine threat to independent judicial activity free from external interference."<sup>5</sup> Instead of initiating a disciplinary procedure to allay concerns, the NOJ President initiated a comprehensive targeted administrative investigation related to complaints' handling with respect to the MRC and all the district courts operating within its jurisdiction regarding the full calendar year of 2021.<sup>6</sup>

At the meeting held on 13 June 2022, the NOJ President confronted the members of the NJC with the fact that he had classified the full documentation of the internal investigation as "intended for limited distribution", which, under the law, means that access may be granted to the outcomes of the internal investigation in 2037 at the latest. The Hungarian Association of Judges (MABIE) immediately voiced its deep concerns over the decision.<sup>7</sup>

Facing the classification, the NJC called upon the NOJ President on 6 July 2022 to send the NJC the decision by means of which the outcomes of the targeted internal investigation were classified as "intended for limited distribution" and the underlying proposal for classification and to grant access to documents to NJC members who request so. Although the law explicitly allows NJC members to consult classified documents, the NOJ President refused to grant the possibility for NJC members to consult the documents of the case. The NOJ President did not grant the request and failed to provide detailed legal reasoning for his decision (although he promised to do so). Members of the NJC waited until October 2022 for the NOJ President to meet their request to be granted access to the documents of the case and the decision on the classification, without any result.

Finally, on 5 October 2022, the NJC issued an official warning against the NOJ President, calling attention to the unlawful conduct of the NOJ President.<sup>8</sup>

At the end of October 2022, a few weeks after the official warning was issued by the NJC, a smear campaign of formerly unseen intensity was launched against two members of the NJC who act as representatives of the NJC before the public. In his public statement issued on 4 November 2022, the NOJ President practically joined the smear campaign in discrediting the members of the NJC and raising doubts with respect to the legitimacy and lawfulness of their actions.<sup>9</sup> [see below under Section III.1.]

II.2. Uncontrolled power to declare an application procedure unsuccessful

The possibility to declare the application procedure unsuccessful without a legal remedy<sup>10</sup> still allows the NOJ President<sup>11</sup> (and the Kúria President, both of them elected by the parliamentary majority) to block any judicial appointment, creating the effect of a “glass ceiling” in judicial careers and exerting a palpable chilling effect amongst potential candidates. While the prospective modifications (required to be adopted by 31 March 2023)<sup>12</sup> are expected to put an end to the uncontrolled powers of the NOJ President, in 2022, the NOJ President still applied this power<sup>13</sup> and declared two application procedures for court president positions unsuccessful. In one particular case,<sup>14</sup> the NOJ President rejected the appointment of a candidate as regional court president who was supported by the majority of the judges' plenary meeting. The NOJ President did so partly in response to harsh criticism expressed by the candidate with respect to the NOJ's court administration measures in front of judicial peers.<sup>15</sup>

II.3. Survey among Hungarian judges indicates undue interference in judicial mandates

The European Network of Councils for the Judiciary (ENCJ) prepares a survey among the judges of Europe about their independence on a periodical basis. The most recent EN CJ Survey on the Independence of Judges<sup>16</sup> took place in the first quarter of 2022 (ENCJ Survey 2022). 29% of Hungarian judges<sup>17</sup> participated in the survey. The data of the survey show that over a longer timespan<sup>18</sup> the independence of the judiciary has deteriorated in Hungary.<sup>19</sup>

<sup>10</sup> The precedential decision of the Kúria excludes judicial remedy against such decisions [see judgment Mfv.10.049/2021/16. of the Kúria, sections (58)-(93)].

<sup>13</sup> The NOJ President declared five judicial application procedures unsuccessful [see: 113.E/2022. (IV. 7.) OBHE decision (declared unsuccessful for procedural irregularities); 122.E/2022. (IV. 21.) OBHE decision (declared unsuccessful for problems “related to work organisation” but in reality, for the full rejection of the candidate by the local judicial council), 193.E/2022. (V. 24.) OBHE decision (declared unsuccessful for procedural irregularities); 277.E/2022. (VII. 4.) OBHE decision (declared unsuccessful for procedural irregularities) and 429.E/2022. (XI. 21.) OBHE decision (declared unsuccessful for problems related to work organisation)].

<sup>14</sup> 286.E/2022. (VII. 14.) OBHE decision; see the minutes of the hearing at https://birosag.hu/sites/default/files/2022-08/meghallgatasi\_jegyzokonyv.pdf. After declaring the appointment unsuccessful, the NOJ President mandated a hand-picked judicial leader to temporarily fill the position of court president at the Győr Regional Court by decision no. 287.E/2022. (VII. 14.) OBHE. Later, in December 2022, the temporarily assigned court president got appointed as sole candidate of an application procedure by 484.E/2022. (XII. 15.) OBHE resolution, also supported by the judges' plenary meeting.

<sup>15</sup> According to the reasoning, the NOJ President as “the decision-maker is not bound by the opinion of the judicial bodies” and that “a contrary interpretation would in practice mean that any person applying for a leadership position on his or her own would, merely by fulfilling the narrow statutory conditions for appointment and with the support of the judicial body, acquire a substantive right to appointment, which would render the procedure of the assessor [the NOJ President] completely empty and formalistic.”

The most relevant data indicating system-level problems are the following:

(i) 39% of judges do not believe that the National Judicial Council (NJC) has the appropriate mechanisms and procedures to defend judicial independence effectively, further 27% are not sure and only 35% agree.<sup>20</sup> This is the second worst rate in whole Europe<sup>21</sup> and is 16 percentage points higher than the European average.

(ii) The answers given to questions related to the appointment and promotion of judges in Hungary show an even worse picture:

- 42% of judges agree that judges in Hungary have entered the judiciary on their first appointment other than solely on the basis of ability and experience during the last three years, a further 18% are not sure and only 40% disagree; this is the worst data in whole Europe and 26 percentage points higher than the European average;<sup>22</sup>
- 52% of judges agree that judges in Hungary have been appointed to the Supreme Court (Kúria) other than solely on the basis of ability and experience during the last three years, a further 17% are not sure and only 31% disagree; this is the second worst data in whole Europe and 32 percentage points higher than the European average;<sup>23</sup>
- 44% of judges agree that judges in first instance and appeal courts in Hungary have been appointed to other positions other than on the basis of ability and experience during the last three years, 17% are not sure and 38% disagree; this is the worst data in whole Europe and 23 percentage points higher than the average.<sup>24</sup>

(iii) Every fifth judge - 19% of judges - believes that during the last three years, cases have been allocated to judges other than in accordance with established rules or procedures in order to influence the outcome of the particular case; 16% was not sure and 65% disagreed; this is the third worst data in whole Europe and 12 percentage points higher than the European average.<sup>25</sup>

(iv) 15% of judges believe that corruption is an issue and individual judges have accepted bribes or have engaged in other forms of corruption as an inducement to decide cases in a specific way. Only 61% disagree while 24% are not sure. According to the ENCJ, "the fact that judges are uncertain about the occurrence of corruption is a bad sign in itself."<sup>26</sup> Based on the outcome of the survey, the ENCJ distinguished three categories where Hungary falls in the group of European countries in which a higher percentage of judges believe that corruption occurs.<sup>27</sup>

III.1. Smear campaign against judges as members of the NJC

A) The context of the 2022 smear campaign against judges

In order to understand the context of the smear campaigns targeted against individual judges as members of the NJC in 2022, it is important to bear in mind that the NJC is the constitutional body mandated by the Fundamental Law "to supervise the administration of courts." The NJC is composed of 15 judge members out of which 14 judges are elected by their peers and there is only one ex-officio member: the Kúria President. Despite the fact that the Hungarian legislation has serious deficiencies that prevent the NJC from fulfilling its constitutional role, in its current composition, the NJC is strongly committed to fulfilling its mandate of having meaningful oversight over the administration of courts and raising awareness of the steps undermining judicial independence. The fact that the NJC voiced criticism on several occasions against measures undermining the independence of judges and the rule of law in Hungary has led to conflicts between the NJC and the two powerful administrative leaders of the Hungarian judiciary: the NOJ President and - most lately - the Kúria President (both of them political appointees elected by the Parliamentary majority). The conflicts heightened by the second half of 2022, after the ongoing rule of law conditionality proceeding initiated by the European Commission and debates over the approval of the recovery and resilience plan for Hungary were extended to matters related to the independence of the Hungarian judiciary.

B) Escalation of conflicts between the NJC and the current NOJ President

Until 2019, conflicts between the NOJ President and the NJC escalated around the widespread practice of the NOJ President in misusing powers with respect to judicial appointments and promotions. The conflict turned into a constitutional crisis<sup>28</sup> entailing the transfer of Tünde Handó, former NOJ President, to the Constitutional Court, and the election of György Senyei as the new NOJ President from 1 January 2020. Nevertheless, as a consequence of the lack of any legislative steps taken to address structural issues, the relationship between the NOJ President and the NJC has remained problematic.<sup>29</sup> Since the mandate of the new NOJ President started, the NJC has had to issue three official warnings to the NOJ President calling attention to the breach of law by the NOJ President and call attention to several other undue interferences in judicial careers.

- (i) The first official warning was issued in June 2021,<sup>30</sup> because the NOJ President denied access to the documents clarifying the legal basis and the amount of bonuses and other forms of payments effected based on full discretion by the NOJ President in addition to the remuneration defined by the law.
- (ii) The second official warning was issued in June 2022,<sup>31</sup> after the NOJ President denied access to documents and information requested by the ad hoc committee established by the NJC to examine the secondment practice of the NOJ President. As declared by the NJC, the practice of secondment became so extensive that it infringes the principles of appointment based on merits and it creates, contra legem, a disguised "probationary" judicial status.<sup>32</sup>
- (iii) The third official warning was issued by the NJC in October 2022,<sup>33</sup> after the NOJ President classified the report on the comprehensive investigation initiated to clarify the role of the President of the Metropolitan Regional Court in the Schadl-case<sup>34</sup> without any reasonable explanation and refused to inform the members of the NJC about the investigation's outcome even in an in-camera session [see more in detail above under Section II.1.].
- (iv) In addition to the above, in October 2022 the NJC also discovered that the NOJ President had presented false information to the NJC regarding his appointment practice.<sup>35</sup> As members of the NJC revealed, in 2021, the NOJ President appointed several judges to the bench in ways circumventing the right to consent by the NJC and distorting the merit-based judicial career system.<sup>36</sup>

<sup>34</sup> See the summary of the whole case under: <https://helsinki.hu/en/the-schadl-volner-case-and-the-battered-independence-of-hungarian-courts/>

<sup>35</sup> In October 2022, the members of the NJC discovered that the information provided by the NOJ President on his appointment practices in 2021 was not based on real data. While the NOJ President informed the members of the NJC that in 30 out of 32 applications evaluated, he had proposed appointments or transfers in accordance with the ranking of the local judicial council and had requested the NJC's consent in cases of deviation from the ranking, it became clear to the NJC members, after a file review, that in four other cases, the second-ranked judge had actually been appointed without the NJC's consent. Because of the false information, the members of the NJC could only conclude that their powers had been circumvented after due enquiry.

<sup>36</sup> See the minutes of the meeting of the NJC held on 5 October 2022 <https://orszagosbiroitanacs.hu/download/az-obt-2022-oktober-5-i-ulesenek-jegyzokonyve/?wpdmdl=2339&refresh=63c44722d1bad1673807650> p. 21.

(v) Conflicts around the supervisory competences became general between the NOJ President and the NJC. In September 2022, the NJC requested information from the NOJ President on the practice of regional court and court of appeal presidents regarding their appointment practice of lower judicial leadership positions (e.g. heads of panels or college presidents).<sup>37</sup> The NJC requested the data after it became public that the wife of the Kúria President had gained a judicial leadership position disregarding the votes of judge peers.<sup>38</sup> The NOJ President declined<sup>39</sup> the NJC's request, claiming that the NJC does not have the competence to oversee local court administration.

C) Intensified conflicts between the NJC and the Kúria President

In addition to the ongoing conflicts between the NOJ President and the NJC, a new front of conflict opened up between the Kúria President and the NJC after the governing majority elected András Zs. Varga as the new Kúria President in 2020,<sup>40</sup> who also became an ex officio member of the NJC by law from 1 January 2021. The relationship between the Kúria President and the NJC has been strained from the first moment since the NJC overwhelmingly rejected his appointment as chief justice,<sup>41</sup> stressing the legitimacy deficit of his election as Kúria President. The strained relationship turned into open conflicts with respect to a series of issues discussed at the meetings of the NJC.

- (i) In May 2022, after consciously boycotting the debates of the NJC on the new Code of Ethics of Judges (the "Code"), the Kúria President challenged the Code adopted by the NJC before the Constitutional Court<sup>42</sup> (CC) on the ground that its Preamble fails to make any reference to the Fundamental Law and provides a very broad understanding of judges' freedom of speech. The new Code of Ethics now in force declares that "a judge can freely express her views also on the law, the legal system and on court administration, and in particular, she can publish, give lectures and teach." [see Section III.2. in more detail].
- (ii) In June 2022,<sup>43</sup> the NJC formed a critical opinion on the system and practice of the secondment of judges, especially with respect to the long-term secondment practice established at the Kúria also raising concerns with respect to the court management decisions of the Kúria President.<sup>44</sup>
- (iii) In July 2022,<sup>45</sup> the NJC formed a critical opinion on the appointment practice of the Kúria President signaling that the Kúria President circumvented the right to consent by the NJC and manipulated the outcome of the application procedure by opening several positions in one package and then considering the applications in an arbitrary order. As a result, while the illusion of a regular application procedure was maintained, judicial appointments were not granted in a transparent, foreseeable, and objective manner. In 2021, the Kúria President granted five appointments to the Kúria<sup>46</sup> utilizing this artificially created loophole. As revealed by the data published, amongst others, Barnabás Hajas, a former state secretary without any prior judicial experience also became a judge at the Kúria as a consequence of this unlawful practice.<sup>47</sup>

with practically uncontrolled administrative rights - heightened, and a smear campaign of formerly unseen intensity was started in the government-friendly propaganda media. The Kúria President, the NOJ President, and politicians of the governing majority joined the smear campaign aimed at putting pressure on and discrediting the members of the NJC.

D) The first wave of the smear campaign

The first wave of the smear campaign was initiated in August 2022, just a few months after the 2022 CM Resolution was adopted, urging guarantees against undue interference in the freedom of expression of judges under Article 10 of the ECHR. Preceding the first wave of the smear campaign, (i) in June 2022, the NJC issued an official warning with respect to the secondment practice of the NOJ President, also criticizing secondments effected by the Kúria President to the apex court; (ii) in July 2022, the NJC formed a critical opinion on the appointment practice of the Kúria President establishing the breach of several legal provisions and circumventing the right to veto of the NJC; (iii) on 14 August 2022, an article by the Guardian<sup>48</sup> reported on the controversial appointment to a judicial leadership position of the wife of the Kúria President, which became public as an outstanding example of the promotion system of judges, were due to lack of guarantees, court presidents may appoint judicial leaders even against manifest opposition by judicial peers.<sup>49</sup> In the article of the Guardian, judge Csaba Vasvári, the spokesperson of the NJC voiced his concerns over government overreach aimed at swaying courts. He told the Observer, that "he and his colleagues on the bench 'have been witnessing external and internal influence attempts' for several years. [...] Vasvári said political overreach came from all sides of the political spectrum. [...] One 'clear internal influence attempt' Vasvári cited was a discussion among senior court officials and a prime suspect in a corruption case about firing a judge or making life 'uncomfortable' for them at work, according to redacted secret documents leaked to Hungarian media. [here, judge Vasvári referred to the Schadl-case] [...] Vasvári also lamented the lack of transparency in judicial appointments made by the president of the National Office for the Judiciary. [...] 'We just want a transparent and meritocratic system,' Vasvári said." The statements of the spokesperson of the NJC triggered severe defamatory attacks against him as judge and as a member of the NJC from the pro-government propaganda media, claiming the spokesperson of the NJC to be a judge of a "terror regime" and to be connected to former governments [see the summary of the articles in Annex I. to the present Rule 9 Submission].

On 16 August 2022, the NJC issued a public statement calling attention to the increasing pressure on Hungarian judges standing up for the independence of the judiciary reminding that "in a modern European State governed by the Rule of Law it is unacceptable to discredit the person of a judge for propaganda purposes."<sup>50</sup>

E) The second wave of the smear campaign

The second wave of the smear campaign was initiated in October 2022, nearing an important deadline given to the Hungarian government to enact the remedial measures it committed to in the framework of the rule of law conditionality mechanism. Preceding the first wave of the smear campaign, (i) in September 2022, the NJC requested information from the NOJ President on the controversial appointment practice of court leaders (after it became public that the wife of the Kúria President gained judicial leadership position disregarding the votes of judge peers); (ii) in October 2022, the NJC issued an official warning with respect to the classification of the Schadl-case and (iii) signaled that the NOJ President presented false information to the NJC regarding his appointment practice and that the NOJ President circumvented the right to veto of the NJC when assessing judicial appointments in 2021.

The second wave of the smear campaign was targeted against the spokesperson of the NJC, judge Csaba Vasvári and the member responsible for international relations, judge Tamás Matusik. The judges were attacked and their independence was questioned for accepting an invitation to meet the ambassador of the USA in their capacity as representatives of the NJC, to talk about the situation of judges and judicial independence in Hungary.<sup>51</sup> The smear campaign was launched in an anonymous blog post of the right-wing media on 28 October 2022 which was consciously boosted by the government propaganda media. The captured media landscape allowed the pro-government propaganda to boost the smear campaign and keep it as a topic for weeks. As demonstrated by Annex II, throughout the second wave, more than 450 publications joined the smear campaign in personally discrediting judge Vasvári and judge Matusik as judges and members of the NJC. As a compilation of articles contained in Annex III, demonstrates that the allegations targeted the judges personally, claiming that they delivered judgments favoring the Gyurcsány government (for example, calling judge Vasvári a "blood judge" of the 2006 riots). In this regard, several publications cited Wikipedia as an objective source of information. A great number of articles openly or indirectly argued how the United States intervened in the independence of the Hungarian judicial system and controlled the judges. In fact, the case prompted the authors to formulate strong anti-American, anti-Biden administration comments and in some cases implied homophobia as well. Several articles mimicked constitutional thinking, using principles such as the separation of powers or the independence of the judiciary to condemn the meeting and urged the resignation of the judges. Besides these constitutional principles, it was also suggested that judges might have committed a crime, and the meeting violated the rules of international law too. The aim could have been to discredit the NJC through its representatives in the eyes of the widest possible public and to divert attention from the serious breaches discovered by the NJC.

On 31 October 2022, the NJC issued a public statement in defense<sup>52</sup> of its representatives reminding that the practice of meeting with ambassadors has been usual in the practice of both the NJC and on behalf of the NOJ President. The Hungarian Association of Judges (MABIE),<sup>53</sup> the European Association of Judges (EAJ),<sup>54</sup> and the representatives of the European Network of Councils for the Judiciary<sup>55</sup> openly expressed their solidarity towards the targeted members.

F) Proactive participation of representatives of Hungarian authorities in the smear campaign

Although the smear campaign was initiated by an anonymous source in the propaganda media, it was built up and kept alive in a very conscious manner with the proactive participation of representatives of the Hungarian authorities. The campaign was at first boosted by pro-government think tanks and propagandists and was further fed for weeks by representatives of Hungarian authorities, including high-ranking officials of the ruling majority, government politicians, and even the representatives of the judiciary: the NOJ President and the Kúria President.

The first one to join the smear campaign was the Kúria President, representing the judicial branch on the highest levels. On 31 October 2022, András Zs. Varga published his opposing opinion formulated as a member of the NJC but using the official website of the Kúria. In the letter published, which was originally addressed to the President of the NJC<sup>56</sup> the Kúria President expressly objected to the publication of the official statement of the NJC issued in defense of the attacked members. The Kúria President disputed the adequateness of the meeting in practically all possible aspects, also raising doubts as to the right of the spokesperson and the international representative of the NJC to represent the NJC. In the words of the Kúria President: "I am not aware that the relationship between the National Judicial Council (NJC) and the Ambassador of the United States of America was on the agenda of either of the two NJC meetings in October. Therefore, I am not aware of which party initiated the meeting and why it took place in the embassy's building, nor am I aware of anyone authorizing the members of the NJC to express their critical views to a representative of another country. Moreover, I have no knowledge of the content of the meeting. In any case, the representative of the NJC is the President-in-Office and [...] I consider the attempt by the NJC to cover up the behavior of some of its members, which has given rise to public concern, by issuing an untrue and offensive statement to be unacceptable. I inform you, Madam President, that I will make my own position public if the statement is issued, as I still do not wish to share the responsibility for the discrediting of the judiciary for the sole benefit of group interests."*

On 1 November 2022, Imre Vejkey, a high-ranking ruling majority MP, President of the Parliamentary Committee of Justice gave an interview<sup>57</sup> claiming: "I am concerned about the case. How is this possible? Our Fundamental Law clearly defines the independence of judges. What happened is quite astonishing, this move can only be interpreted as an interference in the Hungarian judiciary." In another interview, Vejkey gave to the government mouthpiece propaganda media, he went further claiming: "If I would have any type of case which would be dealt by these judges, especially, if it would be connected to a case concerning Christian values, I would certainly declare a bias, because I think that a judge who consulted with the American ambassador - who is an open adherent of the open society and who is known to represent different values - is not likely to be able to give an unbiased judgment on a matter of different values."<sup>58</sup>

On 4 November 2022, the NOJ President issued a statement<sup>59</sup> according to which he publicly questioned the legitimacy of the representatives claiming further that: "It should be noted, however, that members of the NJC acting in such capacity are not entitled to the enhanced protection provided to judges in the exercise of their judicial functions. Such public appearance from a member of the NJC establishes an exceptional public figure status, where the member is obliged to tolerate a higher level of criticism - with the proviso, of course, that this criticism cannot harm human dignity. The justification and lawfulness of the meeting in question are clearly disputable and can therefore be subject of well-founded criticism as defined above, additionally, the content of what was said there is not known in detail."

On 9 November 2022, Gergely Gulyás, the Minister heading the Prime Minister's Office<sup>60</sup> claimed on behalf of the government that "We accept the judicial reform requested by the European Commission, an important part of which is the strengthening of the NJC's powers. [...] Most of the judges are not interested in these disputes. Although it may be of their interest that some members of the NJC unprecedently stretched their limits, only out of personal interest. The fact that two members of the NJC visited the residence of the American ambassador clearly shows their attitude toward independence. I consider it more worrying that the statement issued afterward revealed that the relevant leaders of the NJC do not know who the elected leaders and who the appointed leaders are."

G) Protection of the attacked judges was expressly denied by the NOJ President and the Kúria President as highest representatives of the judiciary

During the term of the smear campaign, members of the NJC requested in vain on several occasions the NOJ President and the Kúria President as high-level representatives of the judicial branch to defend the attacked judges under their obligation to protect the freedom of expression of judges who raise their voice in the protection of the rule of law and the independence of the judiciary.

At the meeting of the NJC held in November 2022, the Kúria President expressly refused to express solidarity in defense of the members of the NJC claiming that "I am the President of the Kúria, and if any judge of the Kúria is attacked, I raise my voice without exception. [...] With respect to other courts, I have no responsibility to do so."<sup>61</sup>

At the meeting of the NJC held in December 2022, the members of the NJC highlighted the public statements of the representative of Hungarian authorities in the smear campaign, raising the question "as to whether such a statement by a politician, who also holds a public power exercising public authority, does or does not erode confidence in the courts." and requesting the NOJ President to reconsider his neutral position taken with respect to defending the attacked judges. The NOJ President persisted that the judges who act as members of the NJC become public actors and therefore cannot avail themselves under the protection of judges. In the words of the NOJ President: "It is the public stage that creates the special status of public actor."<sup>62</sup>

At the meeting of the NJC held in January 2023,<sup>63</sup> with the participation of both the Kúria President and the NOJ President, judge Matusik once again spoke up reminding the duty of the judiciary to be resilient and defend its position when the constitutional role of the judicial power is threatened. Judge Matusik expressly referred to Opinion no. 25. adopted by the Consultative Council of the European Judges (CCJE)<sup>64</sup> according to which "When a judge makes such statements not only in his or her personal capacity but also on behalf of a judicial council, judicial association or other representative body of the judiciary, the protection afforded to that judge will be heightened." In his answer, the NOJ President maintained his former position (regarding the needlessness of defending the members of the NJC).

III.2. Hungarian judges' New Code of Ethics challenged by the Kúria President

A) The NJC passing the new Code

According to the law,<sup>65</sup> the NJC's competences include the "adoption of the Code of Ethics for judges and its publication on the central website."<sup>66</sup> The Code of Ethics for judges is an internal set of rules that guides judges to be irreproachable not only professionally, but also morally, and thus helps to maintain and strengthen public confidence in courts. The Code may be used by service courts when deciding disciplinary matters against judges.

Since October 2019, the NJC has been holding meetings to discuss the adoption of a new Code, as – amongst others – the previous Code of Ethics had not contained rules preventing abuse of power by court leaders, nor had it clarified the vague notion of "prohibition of political activities".<sup>67</sup> Neither had the previous Code addressed the chilling effect amongst judges, for which the Hungarian judiciary and its legal background is criticized by many including the CM, in relation to the execution of the present Baka case. At its meeting on 2 March 2022, the NJC adopted the new Code that replaced the old Code with effect from 15 July 2022.<sup>68</sup>

The adopted new Code includes clearer wording for judges' freedom of expression, stating that a judge may participate in "public events organized in accordance with the law", but their participation should not create the perception of political commitment.<sup>69</sup> An important development is that the Code also states that judges are free to express their opinions on "laws, the legal system and the administration of justice",<sup>70</sup> which was previously at least doubtful. In addition, it sets out more detailed ethical standards for court leaders (requiring them to respect judicial representative bodies or not to speak on behalf of judges working in their courts).<sup>71</sup>

B) Connection between the Code and the execution of the judgment in the Baka v. Hungary case

On 6 October 2021, during the discussion of the draft Code of Ethics,<sup>72</sup> former NJC member Viktor Vadász especially referred to the non-execution of the Baka v. Hungary judgment. Mr. Vadász articulated that one solution/option for Hungary and for the NJC to address the chilling effect caused by the termination of the mandate of chief justice Baka would be to supplement the new Code of Ethics with a provision that explicitly allows judges to express their opinions on "laws, the legal system and the administration of justice". The Kúria President was present at this NJC meeting, so he challenged the Code later being fully aware that the implementation of the Baka v. Hungary judgment is closely connected to drafting the Code provisions allowing less restricted freedom of expression of judges, especially regarding legal changes and the judiciary system. The Code was passed in the context of an Integrity Policy<sup>73</sup> issued by the NOJ President which can be used as a tool to silence judges who want to speak up inter alia for judicial independence, by claiming that the topic is political and/or an activity that infringes their integrity. The current NOJ President has not amended the Integrity Policy since his election.

C) Code was challenged by the Kúria President at the CC

On 27 May 2022, the Kúria President challenged<sup>74</sup> the constitutionality of the Code before the CC and the law allowing the NJC to adopt it. (The Kúria President boycotted the discussions and adoption of the Code after a reference to the Fundamental Law was removed from the draft.) The Kúria President requested the CC to annul the NJC decision adopting the Code (and thus the Code itself), along with the legal provision allowing its adoption, on the basis that they are unconstitutional. In his submission, the Kúria President raises a number of arguments against the Code of Ethics, starting with stating that the NJC was not in the position to adopt it, and he also states that since the text of the Code of Ethics does not refer to the Fundamental Law, the Code is unconstitutional.

In July 2022, four Hungarian NGOs submitted a joint amicus curiae brief to the CC to point out that the arguments of the President of the Kúria are unfounded, and to support the independence of Hungarian judges.<sup>75</sup> In their amicus curiae brief, Amnesty International Hungary, the Eötvös Károly Institute, the Hungarian Helsinki Committee, and the Hungarian Civil Liberties Union reminded CC justices that the CC has no power to review and annul the Code, since, contrary to the argument of the Kúria President, it is not a legal norm but only a collection of rules of conduct. In fact, the CC already ruled in 2016<sup>76</sup> that the previous Code of Ethics was not a law, therefore its overview falls out of the scope of competence of the CC and thus cannot be annulled by the CC. The joint NGO amicus curiae refuted the arguments of the Kúria President one by one. The NGOs pointed out that not only was it the right of judges to adopt a new Code of Ethics, but it was also necessary because the restrictive interpretation of the previous version of the Code disproportionately curtailed judges' freedom of expression and contributed to their reluctance to express their opinions on the legal system and the administration of the courts.

The NJC asked<sup>77</sup> the President of the CC that the CC's decision be brought after the personal hearing of the representatives of the NJC. Moreover, the NJC informed the CC that it agrees with the amicus curiae referenced above. In his response CC justice Zoltán Márki informed the NJC that, as of now, the conditions for the hearing are not met. The NJC regretted this approach and hoped that the CC "will be willing to hear the arguments of the self-governing body of the judiciary, which drafted the Code, in the proceedings of the constitutional review".<sup>78</sup> We do not know when we can expect a CC decision, as it has no deadline to take a decision. The new Code that had been consulted with the judges themselves grants a freer space for judges to participate in public debates and that also empowers judges to defend judicial independence by criticizing or voicing opinions related to laws or the legal or judicial system. As compared to the above Integrity Policy's vague and general prohibition of political and other activities by the NOJ President, in the Code, the judges themselves have independently set more detailed and more tangible rules of conduct, which expressly stipulate that they are free to express their opinions on professional matters.

D) The Code being challenged further strengthens the chilling effect amongst Hungarian judges

By challenging the Code adopted by the judicial self-governing body, the Kúria President as representative of the apex court did not only publicly question the Code itself, but also the NJC's competences and its legitimacy. As commented by NJC member judge Matusik,<sup>79</sup> by challenging the Code of Ethics, the Kúria President "also questioned the competence granted by the Fundamental Law i.e. whether we have the right to pass a new code of ethics."

There is a clear connection<sup>80</sup> between the non-execution of the present judgment and the chilling effect amongst Hungarian judges that the NJC aimed to address by way of passing the new Hungarian Code of Ethics and an explicit provision allowing judges to express their opinions on "laws, the legal system and the administration of justice", therefore allowing them to step up for judicial independence or against laws or measures threatening judicial independence. The Kúria President – by challenging the Code of Ethics – hinders such efforts of the NJC to strengthen the freedom of expression amongst Hungarian judges. The person at the top of the judiciary, the Kúria President also sent a clear message to Hungarian judges i.e. they are not entitled to or just in an extremely narrow sense are entitled to the freedom of expression. Consequently, the above developments regarding the Code further contribute to the chilling effect amongst Hungarian judges.

IV. RECOMMENDATIONS

Amnesty International Hungary and the Hungarian Helsinki Committee respectfully recommend the Committee of Ministers to continue examining under enhanced procedure the execution and effective implementation of the judgment in the Baka v. Hungary case condemning the lack of progress by the Hungarian authorities. Due to the lack of non-implementation and the consistently dismissive approach of the Hungarian authorities, Amnesty International Hungary and the Hungarian Helsinki Committee uphold all their former recommendations and call on the Hungarian authorities as follows:

- Address the issue of judicial independence holistically and comprehensively.<sup>81</sup> In order to address the long-standing structural problems and to ensure the independence of the judiciary, the laws on the judiciary should be amended to ensure compliance with international standards<sup>82</sup> and specific recommendations on the situation of the Hungarian judiciary by international bodies.

- In order to be capable to execute the above task, the Government shall provide a thorough de iure analysis of the Hungarian legislation identifying provisions capable of exerting a negative influence on judges, taking into account the concerns raised by international stakeholders. Similarly, effective protection of NJC's judge members shall be ensured against intimidation, attacks on their reputation as well as retaliatory administrative and other measures.
- In order to eliminate undue interference and retaliatory measures against judges voicing criticism in relation to the independence of the judiciary, the legislation shall be amended to
  - oblige the NOJ President to justify in detail all his/her decisions.
  - put an end to the NOJ President's unlimited powers regarding the appointment of judges and court leaders, in a way that the law shall prescribe clear criteria for declaring an application proceeding unsuccessful and the consent of the NJC shall be required for the decision.
  - ensure that the remuneration of judges is based on a general standard and rely on objective and transparent criteria and phase out bonuses which include an element of discretion.
  - ensure that if a judicial leader challenges their dismissal by launching a lawsuit, and if the judge concerned is reinstated, legal guarantees ensure that the judge may be reinstated to their former leadership position, for example, by making sure that the position could only be filled temporarily.<sup>83</sup>
  - protect the integrity of the NJC's judge members by taking effective measures to guarantee that they can exercise their statutory rights and obligations of safeguarding judicial independence through, among others, formulating and disseminating critical opinions on the administration and independence of the judiciary without any undue interference.
- Hungarian authorities shall
  - refrain from and condemn any public harassment, intimidation or retaliation against judges, and communicate clearly that while criticism of jurisprudence as a part of a public debate is necessary in a pluralistic society, personal attacks against judges are unacceptable.
  - abstain from any public critique, recommendation, suggestion or solicitation regarding court decisions that may constitute direct or indirect influence on pending court proceedings or otherwise undermine the independence of individual judges in their decision-making.

Smear Campaign Against a Hungarian Judge, the Spokesperson of the National Judicial Council (NJC)

14/08/2022–20/08/2022

1. The article in The Guardian that triggered the smear campaign

On 14th August 2022, The Guardian published an article on the Hungarian judiciary with the contribution of Judge Csaba Vasvári, the spokesperson of the National Judicial Council (NJC).

Link: <https://www.theguardian.com/world/2022/aug/14/viktor-orban-grip-on-hungary-courts-threatens-rule-of-law-warns-judge>

In the article, it was reported that the wife of the Kúria President, András Zs. Varga was appointed to a judicial leadership position, even though she was supported by a much smaller proportion by her peer judges of the concerned court college, than the other applicant. Judge Vasvári, member of the NJC did not comment on this particular appointment in the article, but spoke about other aspects of judicial independence as quoted:

"Csaba Vasvári, a senior judge at the Budapest Metropolitan Court, told the Observer that he and his colleagues on the bench 'have been witnessing external and internal influence attempts' for several years. [...] Vasvári said political overreach came from all sides of the political spectrum. [...] One 'clear internal influence attempt' Vasvári cited was a discussion among senior court officials and a prime suspect in a corruption case about firing a judge or making life 'uncomfortable' for them at work, according to redacted secret documents leaked to Hungarian media. The case centers on Fidesz MP and deputy justice minister Pál Völner, who has been accused of accepting bribes – charges he denies. Völner was not involved in discussions to fire the judge. In an unusual move, a senior judge appointed by the Fidesz-controlled parliament decided a judicial investigation into the case would remain secret, not only to the public but even to fellow judges. Vasvári also lamented the lack of transparency in judicial appointments made by the president of the National Office for the Judiciary (NJO). [...] 'We just want a transparent and meritocratic system,' Vasvári said."

2. Reactions of the Hungarian pro-government propaganda media

On 15th August 2022, the online news site of the Hungarian daily newspaper Magyar Nemzet, (Magyar Nemzet Online) published an anonymous article, with the title "Csaba Vasvári has been washed clean on Wikipedia – the uncomfortable parts relating to 2006 have disappeared from the article describing the judge's professional history". Link: <https://magyarnemzet.hu/belfold/2022/08/tisz-tara-mostak-vasvari-csabat-a-wikipedian>

*"Judge Csaba Vasvári attacked the government again, this time in the columns of the liberal British newspaper, The Guardian. However, a part of the text that would help put Csaba Vasvári's years of anti-government agitation into context has disappeared from the lawyer's Wikipedia page: his role in the 2006 Gyurcsány terror.*

*Csaba Vasvári, the team leader judge of the Central District Court of Pest and the spokesman of the National Judicial Council, spoke to the liberal British newspaper The Guardian, in its columns he expressed his opinion that 'the government interferes in the work of the courts'. The lawyer's words ripped through the left-wing media - as usually.*

In such cases, it is common for those who do not know the name of the interviewee to search for information on who the speaker is and what his professional background is. Wikipedia pages are typically among the first hits. Vasvári has been fighting the government and the judiciary for years now. His professional and political stances are notable, primarily his opinions in cases arising from the confrontation between the National Judicial Council and the National Office for the Judiciary - according to the judge's Wikipedia page, from which, however, a part of the entry about Vasvári's role in 2006 disappeared.

Namely the following : ‘After the riots in Budapest in the fall of 2006 - especially the siege of the headquarters of MTV [the Hungarian national public television] - hundreds of innocent people were arbitrarily placed in pretrial detention, based solely on police reports. Most of the suspects were picked up randomly from the street or dragged away from bars by the police, only to be accused later of assaulting the police. Vasvári’s decisions were annulled without exception due to being unfounded by the Budapest Regional Court of Appeal acting at the second instance. Later, the criminal proceedings against the arrested citizens were later largely dropped. Vasvári, as a trial judge, also acted in several of these cases, and in many ones, despite the lack of evidence, innocent young men with no criminal record were sentenced to prison. In an egregious case, the 23-year-old Dániel Dukán, who had been brutally beaten by the police, was sentenced to two and a half years in prison for the crime of acting violence against an official, even though the prosecutor’s office only asked for a one-year prison sentence for disorderly conduct. The verdict was overturned at the second instance, and the Budapest Regional Court of Appeal found that Vasvári had acted biased. The persons convicted by him were rehabilitated on the basis of the Nullity Act that entered into force in 2013. Because of his work, the Kuruc.info online news portal presented Vasvári as a ‘blood judge’ at the time.’

While there is a factual error in the section deleted from Csaba Vasvári’s Wikipedia page, for example Dániel Dukán stated that he was also convicted at the second instance, it can hardly be disputed that the judge’s activities in 2006 at least call into question his current role as the champion of justice.

Appearing in the liberal media in recent years, Vasvári has not had to answer any unpleasant questions regarding his decisions in 2006, rather, these matters have deliberately been kept silent.

From all this, it may seem that Vasvári is only concerned about the rule of law when Hungary has a right-wing government. The phenomenon may be familiar to many from the last decade.”

On the same day, another Hungarian online news portal Origo repeated the main content of this article entitled “The judge of the Gyurcsány terror is trying to attack Hungary”. Link: <https://www.origo.hu/itthon/20220815-tisztara-mostak-vasvari-csabat-a-wikipedian.html>

“Judge Csaba Vasvári attacked the government again, this time in the columns of the liberal British newspaper The Guardian. However, a part of the text that would help put Csaba Vasvári’s years of anti-government agitation into context has disappeared from the lawyer’s Wikipedia page: his involvement in the Gyurcsány terror in 2006, Magyar Nemzet reports.

Csaba Vasvári, the team leader of the Central District Court of Pest and the spokesperson of the National Judicial Council, spoke to the liberal British newspaper The Guardian, in its columns he expressed his opinion that the ‘government interferes in the work of the courts’, reports Magyar Nemzet. The lawyer’s words were of course echoed by the Hungarian left-wing media. In the meantime, it was revealed that all parts of Vasvári’s Wikipedia article about his role following the 2006 Gyurcsány terror had disappeared. The [disappeared] parts recalled among other things, that ‘after the riots in Budapest in the fall of 2006 - especially after the siege of the MTV headquarters - hundreds of innocent people were arbitrarily placed in pretrial detention, based solely on police allegations. The majority of the suspects were caught by the police off the street or dragged away from bars being accused of assaulting the police. The vast majority of those who had been remanded in custody by Vasvári were released during the second instance proceedings, most of them were not prosecuted at all in the end. His best-known and most scandalous case was the trial of a 23-year-old university student, Dániel Dukán, for whom the prosecution only asked for a suspended prison sentence, but Vasvári, as the trial judge, sentenced him to two and a half years in prison, without any concrete evidence, based only on the statements of the policemen who beat Dukán. In the end, the Budapest Regional Court of Appeal, acting at the second instance, reduced the sentence to a suspended one. Appearing in the liberal media in recent years, Vasvári has not had to answer any unpleasant questions regarding his decisions in 2006, these matters have been rather deliberately kept quiet, Magyar Nemzet reports.”

3. Statement of the National Judicial Council (NJC)

The next day, on 16th August 2022, the National Judicial Council of Hungary (NJC) issued a statement. Link: <https://orszagosbiroitanacs.hu/?mdocs-file=2261>

"The National Judicial Council categorically rejects all statements published in the Hungarian press insinuating that any Hungarian judge in office had been a judge of a 'terror regime' or is connected to any actor of the political spectrum.

In a modern European state governed by the rule of law it is unacceptable to discredit the person of a judge for propaganda purposes.

No criticism or view expressed by a judge on the court administration system can be regarded as an attack against the country as judges also have the right to the freedom of speech.

In a statement released on 2 February 2022 the National Judicial Council already drew attention to the increasing pressure on the Hungarian judiciary in recent years."

4. Continuing smear campaign in the propaganda media

On 17 August 2022, Magyar Nemzet Online responded to the NJC's statement in an article with the title: "The National Judicial Council took a complaining, activist judge under its protection".

Link: <https://magyarnemzet.hu/belfold/2022/08/panaszkodo-aktivista-birot-vett-vedelmebe-az-orszag-os-biroi-tanacs>

"Recently, the role of the weak parliamentary opposition has been regularly taken over in Hungary by public law institutions and officials who are otherwise not called upon to do so, aiming to undermine the credibility of Hungary and to openly cause economical and political disadvantage to Hungary and Hungarians. Connected to the question whether certain actors of the justice system may be involved in this regard, they have increasingly become the subject of public discourse and social debates, writes the Túzfalcsoport blog on Blogstar in its latest article. In a recent statement, the National Judicial Council most emphatically rejects all claims made in the Hungarian press that any Hungarian judge in office has ever been a judge of any kind of a 'terror regime' or could be linked to any political figure. The background of the case is that Csaba Vasvári, the team leader at the Central District Court of Pest, the spokesperson of the National Judicial Council, made a statement in the liberal British newspaper The Guardian, arguing that the 'government interferes in the work of the courts'. In recent years appearing in the liberal media, Vasvári has not had to answer any unpleasant questions regarding his decisions in 2006, since these matters have been rather deliberately kept quiet. In the light of these, it may seem that Vasvári is only concerned about the rule of law when Hungary has a right-wing government. The phenomenon may be familiar to many from the past decade, as the Mediaworks News Center report highlights.

However, the outburst from a representative of the judicial body is not necessarily considered unusual. Previously, it caused a serious clash in professional circles that the NJC launched a political attack against Tünde Handó, the former president of the National Office for the Judiciary, and Péter Darák, the former president of the Kúria, who had also been involved in the codification work under the Medgyessy government, sympathizing with the NJC - provided the venue for the rebellious judicial body. By the way, according to our sources, the fact that they could count on the support of Darák may have played a role in the fact that the NJC took more and more fierce steps over time, as Túzfalcsoport writes in its article.

The article recalls that the name of the judge at the center of the current NJC press statement may not be unknown to the law-abiding public. Csaba Vasvári, who appeared on ATV's show 'Friderikusz Most' on 12 October 2006 saying that 'you have to be able to bear the epithet of blood judge', seems to have become more sensitive since then, having a harder time bearing criticism. At least this is evident from the fact that, according to 444.hu, the spokesperson of the National Judicial Council (!) complained to the British Observer that he and his colleagues had been the alleged victims of 'external and internal influence attempts' (!) for years.

According to the court sources of the Túzfalcsoport, the ominous statement does not contain substantive specifics, but it is excellent for creating atmosphere. Vasvári, who served at the Central District Court of Pest, is not known for his calm temper. According to some reports, he sued the former President of the NOJ in connection with an unsuccessful application for a position at the Budapest Regional Court of Appeal, and later the Metropolitan Court for HUF 135 (!) because, according to his claim, it had been transferred to him late.

However, what is even more exciting is that Vasvári does not always know the boundaries even during his professional work. Recently, in connection with one of his decisions, the Kúria stated that the court shall adjust the prison sentence imposed in a judgment issued by another EU Member State court in accordance with the upper limit of the sentence that can be determined based on the Hungarian law, if the term of the prison sentence imposed in the Member State judgment is longer than what could be determined based on the Hungarian law. Judge Vasvári suddenly decided to enforce the Anglo-Saxon legal approach in one of his decisions, exceeding the upper limit established in the relevant section of the Hungarian Criminal Code. Against Vasvári's decision, the Chief Prosecutor submitted a motion for legal remedy in the interests of legality, claiming the court's decision violated the law, since the prison term imposed on the defendant by the Member State court was a lighter punishment. The highest judicial forum found that Vasvári's decision regarding the cumulative punishment imposed on the accused was seriously contrary to law.

According to Túzfalcsoport, it should be noted that in the past, the National Judicial Council was ready to assist to undermine the authority of the Polish government, which joined the anti-Warsaw axis of the European Union at a critical moment with its decision last week.

The judicial body discussed the initiative of the European Network of Councils for the Judiciary (ENCJ) behind closed doors in one of the rooms of the Kúria and, according to our information at the time, supported the proposal to suspend the EN CJ membership of the Polish Judicial Council (KRS) with a majority decision of 6:4.

The Fundamental Law and Act CLXI of 2011 on the Organization and Administration of Courts have established the NJC with the task of supervising the National Office for the Judiciary, which performs the central administration of the courts. However, this professional control cannot in any way mean political positioning since the basic function of the NJC is to control the work of the NOJ.

The article of the Túzfalcsoport was published at:

<https://tuzfalcsoport.blogstar.hu/2022/08/17/panaszkodo-aktivista-birot-vett-vedelmebe-az-orszagos-biroi-tanacs/118387/>

On the same day Magyar Nemzet Online released another anonymous editorial article about Judge Vasvári with the title “Csaba Vasvári’s 2006 role is back on his Wikipedia page – for example, the judge sentenced a man beaten by the police for violence against an official”. Link: <https://magyar-nemzet.hu/belfold/2022/08/vasvari-csaba-wikipedia-oldalara-visszakerult-2006-os-szerepvallalasa>

“Following a previous article by the Mediaworks News Center, the information according to which he had sentenced innocent people to prison terms during the 2006 Gyurcsány terror, reappeared on the Wikipedia page of judge Csaba Vasvári. Meanwhile, the National Judicial Council condemned our related article, stating that we attacked the judge in person, while we were just presenting facts about his professional work and about his work history.

The information about the darkest period of the judge's career, the orders and judgments being delivered during the 2006 Gyurcsány terror, has reappeared on the judge Csaba Vasvári's Wikipedia page. This information had disappeared from the website in the fall of 2021 following an editorial correction. It is known: on Monday, the Mediaworks News Center reported the disappearance of data in connection with Vasvári's sharp criticism of the President of the Kúria and the Hungarian court system in a foreign newspaper. In connection with such statements, the Wikipedia page of a public figure is relevant, since many people do not know the interviewee, and Wikipedia results are among the first to appear during Internet searches.

For a long time, on the Wikipedia page of judge Csaba Vasvári, there was a text which, albeit with inaccuracies, indicated that he had issued severe sentences and pretrial detention orders during the brutal police violence in 2006, which leading many peaceful protesters or ordinary passers-by to become a victim of political revenge.

The text just published on Wikipedia contains factual statements: instead of the one- year prison sentence requested by the prosecutor's office, Vasvári sentenced Dániel Dukán, for example, to two and a half years, who had been convicted on the basis of contradictory police statements.

Before the court the accused person argued for example that the police had beaten him, but the witnesses summoned by the authorities told to Vasvári that Dukán repeatedly ran into vehicles on his own, that's how he got his injuries. He was also convicted at the second instance and was rehabilitated only in 2013.

Our article about the information that disappeared from the Wikipedia page made waves, and the National Judicial Council (NJC), whose spokesman is, by the way, Csaba Vasvári himself, condemned our editorial in a statement. As the NJC wrote, 'in a modern European state governed by the rule of law it is unacceptable to discredit the person of a judge for propaganda purposes'. The announcement was also enthusiastically cited by the liberal press.

However, the NJC claimed untruths, because in one of our previous articles linked at the beginning of the concerned one - as anyone can read and interpret for themselves - we did not attack the person of Csaba Vasvári at all. On the contrary, we made it clear that as a judge, he acted in such a way that his decisions could give the impression that he was part of the Gyurcsány terror machinery in 2006. By this, we criticized his professional activities, not his person."

On 19th August 2022, another article appeared on Magyar Nemzet Online, this time signed by a well-known columnist, Tamás Pilhál. The title of the article is: "A shameless blood judge – Csaba Vasvári sent innocent people into prison in the autumn of 2006, and now he is cursing in a foreign newspaper" Link: <https://magyarnemzet.hu/velemeny/2022/08/egy-arcatlans-verbiro>

"A few days ago, the infamous Hungarian blood judge Csaba Vasvári, who helped the conspicuous Gyurcsány regime by imprisoning innocent young people in the fall of 2006, trampled on his own country in the liberal British press. If he had an iota of conscience, he would have buried himself with such a dark past a long time ago, perhaps he would have gone into hiding. But it seems he doesn't have one. Csaba Vasvári, the team leader at the Central District Court of Pest, who is also the spokesperson for the left-liberal bootless club called the National Judicial Council, informed the readers of the Guardian Observer that the Orbán government 'interferes in the work of the courts'. As quoted, he and his fellow judges have been witnessing an 'external and internal influence attempts' for years, he said. The document tried to underline all this with the Völner case. But this example is weak for several reasons. On the one hand, how can you refer to an ongoing procedure, where not even a first instance judgment has been delivered, let alone a legally binding one? Presumption of innocence - does it ring a bell? On the other hand, after the case broke out, Pál Völner resigned immediately, and the government did not even think of excusing him. (Not like the left wing's current sycophants, from Katalin Cseh to Csaba Czeplédy.) Third: according to the suspicion, the former president of the Hungarian Chamber of Bailiffs bribed Völner - so a player in the court world dabbled in politics, asked for its help, and not the other way around. The government removed Völner because it does not tolerate even the suspicion of abuse - but nobody fired Vasvári for the fact that he sentenced innocent people in the fall of 2006. That's all about that.

In the article, Csaba Vasvári also criticized the National Office for the Judiciary (which is supposed to be controlled by Vasvári's NJC) because, in his opinion, its president does not make judicial appointments transparent. Then a serious ex-judge, who asked to remain anonymous, was also interviewed by the Guardian, according to whom politically sensitive cases are discussed in the 'Supreme Court' (there is no such thing, there is Kúria, it has been in place since 2011, never mind) 'a loyal body of judges, which makes decisions in favor of the government'. Indeed? Doesn't he say that?! Just as in 2018, the Kúria ruled perfectly in favor of the government, when a parliamentary mandate was stolen from Fidesz through a misinterpretation of the law in the case of mail-in ballots - this was later con- firmed by the Constitutional Court. What would have happened, if the Kúria was not so ‘pro-Fidesz’? Do they take two? Anyway, this was one of the most serious legal frauds of the last decades, but interestingly, Brussels, The Guardian and Vasvári did not budge at the time. Of course not, since Fidesz was the victim.

Then the key sentences of the document is following (they shoved a microphone under Vasvári’s nose so that he would pave the way for them): the Orbán government ‘constantly exceeds’ its powers in order to influence the courts, and this further increases concerns about the rule of law in Hungary. ‘Concerns about political interference in the Hungarian legal system were raised when Budapest tried to free up billions of euros in EU funds, which are currently frozen due to concerns about the rule of law, including the independence of the judiciary.’

EU funds - that’s the point! In recent weeks, anti-Hungarian pamphlets have been published even more diligently in the mainstream liberal sewers in order to create and maintain the appearance in the virtual spaces of the West: there are problems with the rebellious Hungarians, the dictatorship is rumbling here. Csaba Vasvári - despite being a judge - is involved in this deceitfully planned, anti-Hungarian campaign of lies, the purpose of which is to blackmail our country and steal the EU funds that are due to us by law. The rule of law, the issues in the judicial system (which are caused by the Vasvári types of people anyway) and all the rest: just dumb nonsense, political slogans, a cover story to break the resistance of Hungary, which is too sovereign and wishes to stay out of the imperial madness.

Anyway, can you imagine an English judge spitting on the justice system of his country in a Hungarian newspaper? Of course not. Only left-liberals in Hungary are capable of such vileness. Then they faint that the majority considers them traitors and won’t let them near power.

Csaba Vasvári has been a favorite of domestic and international left-liberals for quite some time, as he scolds the government without having the need for a teleprompter and repeats the simplest left-liberal mantras by heart. Previously, under strange circumstances, he acquitted Ibolya Dávid and Károly Herényi in the UD Zrt. surveillance case. In his oral justification, he attacked the Prosecutor’s Office and ‘certain rivals’ of the accused politicians and ‘those collaborating with them’. A few years ago, he sued the NOJ, the Metropolitan Court and the Budapest Regional Court of Appeal, because they did not appoint him as a judge at the latter. And he was the one who, after the police terror in the fall of 2006, sentenced Dániel Dukán, a university student, to two and a half years in prison for armed violence against an official, despite the fact that the prosecution only asked for a one-year suspended sentence for disorderly conduct. Vasvári was not interested in the fact that Dukán had injuries that were obviously caused by the brutal police action.

According to the testimony of the policemen, Dukán was injured because he ran into parked cars three times (!) while running away. But Vasvári considered the lies of the Gergényi hussars to be realistic and believable, and imposed a cruel punishment on the university student. As in the autumn of 2006, besides Vasvári, several judges of the Central District Court of Pest sent protesters behind bars on a conveyor belt, based solely on false police statements. But at that time, Brussels was not worried about the Hungarian rule of law and justice system. And that Vasvári, who was a cog in the terror machine for sixteen years, can now smear Hungary in a foreign newspaper. It blows the mind. (Dukán’s conviction was eventually annulled by the Nullity Law passed under the Orbán government. The legislation itself was largely inspired by Dukán’s ordeal.)

It is more than interesting that, in the meantime, the sentences referring to the judge’s checkered professional history were deleted from Csaba Vasvári’s Wikipedia page by diligent hands, Mediaworks News Center pointed out. Precisely those that reveal that he took an active part in imprisoning those who were arrested randomly, and that because of his work he is called a ‘blood judge’. And you know what happened after we wrote that? In a statement, the NJC - for which Vasvári is the spokesperson - protested against the ‘propagandistic’ attack on the person of a judge, which they believe has no place in a state governed by the rule of law.

I think that in a state governed by the rule of law there is no place for sending beaten university students to prison without evidence. There is no place for Hungarian judges to smear their country in foreign newspapers. As long as these sickly biased, Bolshevik-minded figures are not removed from our courts, there will not be justice, but either serving law."

On 20th August 2022 Zsolt Bayer, an influential newspaper editorialist and television talk-show host, founding member of Fidesz, published a short post on his own blogsite entitled Who belongs to which place?

Link: <https://badog.blogstar.hu/2022/08/20/kinek-hol-van-helye-/118428/>

"Then I 'propagandistically' declare: Csaba Vasvári is a bastard who has nothing to do on the judge's bench. Sweep him out of there!"

The blog post has been re-posted by several Hungarian online newspapers.

References to internal sources, implying objectivity and constitutional thinking

Title: Did Pressman call in two Hungarian judges?

According to our information, the case caused a conflict in court circles; our source assessed the case as gross interference in the Hungarian justice system. The reversed scenario is difficult to imagine: what a scandal it would cause if the Hungarian ambassador in Washington were to invite even a few judges of a state supreme court.

The leading American diplomat might not be aware of the fact that, in one of the NCJ's resolutions, it stated that, based on Article 1 of the Judicial Code of Ethics, „the judge acts without any influence during his judging activities, validating the principle of equal treatment of parties (...).”

Judges in Hungary must be aware that, according to the US State Department's records, its ambassador represents the interests and policies of the United States and in some cases openly politicizes, as we could observe in the case of Ambassador Pressman.

Title: The Twitter post of the American ambassador shows that the official met with two Hungarian judges – Zoltán Lomnici Jr.: The government should not interfere in the functioning of the judiciary

It is incompatible with the constitutional principles of America as well that another branch of power tries to interfere in the functioning of the judiciary.

Their [Századvég's] source assessed the case as a gross interference in the Hungarian justice system.

Lomnici Jr. stated: Hungary is an independent, democratic state governed by the rule of law, where the executive power cannot interfere in the functioning of the independent judiciary. Századvég's legal expert reminded us at this point: the US State Department likes to comment — sometimes with more, sometimes with less justification—on certain decisions made by the courts of other countries.

Title: This is interference in our justice system – Parliamentary Committee President on the meeting between the American ambassador and judges

„I am concerned about the case. How is this possible? Our Fundamental Law clearly defines the independence of judges.

What happened is quite astonishing; this move can only be interpreted as interference in the Hungarian judiciary.”

Interestingly, even the NJC stated in one of its resolutions that, according to Article 1 of the Judicial Code of Ethics, „a judge shall act free from any influence in his judicial activities, upholding the principle of equal treatment of all parties. In the course of his work, he shall avoid even the appearance that he is favouring anyone or that his actions and decisions are biased or based on prejudice (...) A judge shall refrain from undue connections with the legislative and executive powers in a manner that is obvious to outsiders”.

[MP Imre] Vejkey told us that the issue is not on the agenda of the parliamentary body. It is true that the president of the supreme court will soon be heard on the report on the functioning of the Kúria last year, but that will be limited to the year 2021.

Title: Parliamentary Committee President to Origo: the two judges who consulted with the American ambassador are not impartial, they should resign

We do not have a specific task at the moment: it is now up to the NJC to deal with this matter. Every year, the Committee on Justice hears the annual reports of the NJC, the President of the Kúria, and the Prosecutor General, which are submitted to the Hungarian Parliament. The NJC's report is first discussed by the Committee on Justice, and based on that, a proposed amendment is submitted to Parliament.

At the moment, the 2021 report is being discussed, so we cannot ask a question on this matter, but we will certainly do so regarding the 2022 report.

Title: It is unfortunate to welcome judges at the embassy, but the USA is the world's number one power – expert on the Pressman meeting

At the same time, it is very unfortunate to receive non-executive judges at the embassy who are known to have conflicts with the leaders of the Kúria and the NOJ.

The ambassador should also be aware that the separation of powers and judicial independence are some of the basic pillars of Western-style democracy; this applies to America, the European Union, and our country as well, where the Fundamental Law also guarantees it. Such a meeting can cause serious concerns since we cannot know what was said at the meeting [or] whether something happened that would threaten the independence of the judiciary even to the smallest degree.

We must realize that the weight, influence, and advocacy ability of American ambassadors are greater than those of their colleagues in general, and that they do take advantage of this.

Implying the commission of the crime of abusing authority or the violation of international law

Title: There might be an investigation for abuse of authority because of the meeting between the American ambassador and Hungarian judges.

István Tényi filed a report with the Regional Investigating Prosecutor's Office, initiating an investigation on suspicion of abuse of authority against an unknown perpetrator based on an article published on Blogstar. The article by Tűzfalcsoport reported that the American ambassador met with two Hungarian judges, which caused a stir even in professional circles, as the case could be interpreted as blatant interference with the Hungarian justice system.

Title: Could the American ambassador have violated international law?

The question may arise whether the American ambassador violated the Vienna Convention by ordering the two judges in.

Tűzfalcsoport believes that, in the meantime, Ambassador Pressman has read Section 41 Paragraph (2) of the Vienna Convention, which lays down the rules for diplomats concerning contacting officials, including judges.

The National Judicial Council was supported by the left-wing press as regards the scandalous meeting; even the propaganda blogsite 444.hu, representing the interests of George Soros, defended the ambitious judges, the useful allies of Brussels! On a different note, all credible public law officials condemned the ambassador's provocative meeting with the two Hungarian judges.

Title: 444 has been busted, Benjamin Novak defends Pressman

Concerning the American Ambassador David Pressman, it has recently been argued that he may have violated Section 41(2) of the Vienna Convention, which lays down rules for contacts with public officials, including judges. Accordingly, an ambassadorial meeting such as the one in Budapest can only take place through the mediation of the foreign ministry of the country concerned.

The National Judicial Council has also enjoyed the support of the left-wing press in the wake of the scandalous meeting; even the propaganda blog 444.hu, which represents the interests of George Soros, has defended the ambitious judges, in whom Brussels also sees a useful ally...! On the other hand, credible public officials have, without exception, condemned the ambassador's provocative meeting with the two Hungarian judges.

So did „guest author” Benjamin Novak (aka Benjámin Novák, as exposed by Fidesz MEP Tamás Deutsch), who was recently embarrassed by an article seeking to discredit Hungary, [likewise defend the NCJ]. It so happened that the Soros blog 444 published a New York Times article, as if to complain that even in America they know how many problems there are in Hungary.

However, Tamás Deutsch noticed at the time that the article in question was written by a man called Benjámin Novák, who, incidentally, is an employee of 444.

So, according to him [Novak], the media took things to the next level when it comes to the ambassadors' meeting in question, when they referred to a violation of the Vienna Convention and even when someone dared to call Ambassador Pressman a „press man”.

Title: More leftist threads emerge among those who excuse the Pressman scandal

Tűzfalcsoport has drawn public attention to the case of the two Hungarian judges who were summoned by the American ambassador because it does not consider it right that, in flagrant violation of the Vienna Convention, the diplomat should have a confidential conversation with judges who, given the main activity of the courts, cannot in any way be considered the supreme representatives of the judiciary under the Hungarian constitutional system.

The case of this meeting, which was held in violation of international law, could be concluded with the sad lesson that two judges, whose task is to observe and enforce the legal provisions, were involved in the violation, which is a threat to the interests of our country.

Following Pressman's meeting with the members of NJC, the presidency of the judicial interest group firmly rejected „the untrue statements of fact and seriously defamatory statements about our fellow judges, which deeply insulted them in their judicial office, and which were partly based on an opinion piece published in an anonymous blog post”.

Cyncism

Title: Foreign influence might be dangerous – Miklós Szánthó: Hungarian judges must not conduct any political activity

Judges are mandated to apply the law, not to give political advice, stated Miklós Szánthó, Director General of the Center for Fundamental Rights. The two members of the National Judicial Council should consider resigning from their positions out of moral and ethical reasons, but at the very least [they] should consider a public apology.

Miklós Szánthó stressed that the „education” and „sensitization” of judges by foreign powers threaten the integrity of Hungarian public law bodies.

[...]

It could be extremely dangerous if it becomes common for Hungarian judges to attend regular ideological coaching sessions with representatives of foreign state interests.

Title: Parliamentary Committee President to Origo: the two judges who consulted with the American Ambassador are not impartial, they should resign

"It's hard to say, but I can give you a personal opinion on this. If I had any case, and it was laid before these judges, especially if it was a case concerning Christian values, I would certainly declare bias, because I think that a judge who has consulted the American ambassador—who is a known follower of open society, by the way, [and] who is known to represent different values—would be unlikely to give an unbiased judgment on a case representing different values. For my part, I would declare an objection of bias, but how this [objection] would be assessed by reference to this [affair] is, of course, a different matter.

They [left-wing media outlets and NGOs] are well aware of the fact that ambassadors are political actors who carry out the orders of their own government, president, prime minister, etc. So they are silent because this is a very unpleasant situation for them."

Repeated: 3/11/2022 Magyar Hírlap

Title: Open letter to the ambassador – Zsolt Bayer: What did these two judges tell you?

The point concerns the statement you issued after the public and public life in Hungary were shocked that you summoned/equipped/invited/commanded (underline the appropriate one) two Hungarian judges, who are also members of the National Judicial Council.

The Hungarian ambassador [to the US] will, of course, not call on the [American] judges in their official capacity—that would be so subordinate—[so] the two judges will go to the Hungarian Embassy, OK? There, they will talk to our ambassador, who will ask about the state of freedom of the press, freedom of conscience, freedom of speech, and freedom of religion in the United States and will express his concern about the state of these freedoms and the independence of the judiciary (and the threats to it).

So that's all right, is it, Mr. Ambassador?

I ask you: why do we not know anything about what you discussed (had a conversation, a background conversation, an interrogation—underline as appropriate!) with the two Hungarian judges? It is also very important to know this because both judges, and one of them in particular, have already engaged in political activities incompatible with their judicial profession.

And why were these two judges brought before you? Is it because they have already expressed themselves politically and made it clear that they are anti-government?

Well, well, well... Doesn't it help bilateral relations if a section of the Hungarian public expresses an opinion about you? In that case, Mr. Ambassador, we have been at war for at least two years! Or don't you read what, and in what tone, the American press writes about the Hungarian government, the Hungarian prime minister, and us in general?

Title: Brussels puts union law in brackets to meet American demands – Hungarian statehood under attack

As far as the United States is concerned, it seems clear that the State Department, the representative of American diplomacy, is almost completely under the broad influence of the global NGO networks and legal and advisory bodies. They do not only act in human rights cases, but rather, they want to bring part or even the whole of the constitutional power of sovereign states under international control, as was shown by the consultation between the American ambassador in Budapest and two Hungarian judges, also members of the National Judicial Council.

The attempt of the United States to intervene in the Hungarian justice system is the exact opposite of the Western concept of the rule of law, and there is reason to suspect that America also wants to use the Western financial system to gain influence.

28/11/2022 Magyar Nemzet

Title: National Endowment for Democracy: names of Demszky and Kreko pop up

Péter Krekó emphasized the importance of the existence of NED and other similar organizations and that of international support. The practical realization of this [international support] can be seen in the financial support provided to the domestic liberal NGOs and the left-wing alliance, as well as in symbolic events such as Ambassador Pressman's meeting with the members of the government-critical National Judicial Council.

12/12/2022 Tűzfalcsoport

Pressure, anti-Americanism, vulgarity, and anti-LGBTQ speech

Title: Mr. Vasvári and Mr. Matusik should resign now

*Only the arrogant ambassadors and agents of the United States, inflamed by imperial pride, can afford to do this, and they behave as if they have sh*t on this land under us. For example, David Pressman, who has recently been appointed to Budapest, has caused so much trouble during his short stay here that one dares to walk towards the embassy at Szabadság tér only with one's nose shut, because something really stinks there. But let's leave Pressman alone; he's doing the job he was entrusted with. When was the United States interested in international law, in another country's sovereignty, or in diplomacy, when it came to its own interests? We can be happy not to wake up to missile explosions like many people have over the past decades.*

But there we have our dear judges, who run to the master's feet at the sound of a whistle and complain to him about all the dictatorship, the lack of freedom of the press, but most importantly, about the government pressure on the Hungarian judiciary, which of course they, the two of them, are resisting heroically, but if you're not sending missiles, dear Mr. Pressman, at least live up to your name and put pressure on the government, if you can, your majesty. But otherwise, if nothing else, they are happy to give advice to any NGO where some dollars roll in.

Wouldn't Mr. Vasvári and Mr. Matusik do better if, after explaining to the Hungarian people, on whose behalf they are judging, [they explained] what they were looking for at the embassy? I am convinced that many new opportunities would await them outside the judiciary. Open Society, Amnesty, Helsinki, TASZ, etc. The possibilities of the network are endless.

Title: Two Hungarian judges who consulted with the American ambassador must resign, judicial independence demands it

The case caused a conflict in judicial circles. It is difficult not to evaluate the case as gross interference in the Hungarian justice system. Moreover, the two judges may have violated the Judicial Code of Ethics; therefore, the demand of many is justified: they must resign immediately.

Title: The judge called in to the embassy for reporting attacks the government regularly – faithful leftist Csaba Vasvári

Csaba Vasvári, one of the judges who consulted with the American ambassador to Budapest last week, accused the government of suppressing the independence of judiciary. The member of the National Council of the Judiciary continued to profess his faith in the left after the events of autumn 2006, issuing several unsubstantiated rulings and later silencing [discussion of] his scandalous judicial activities on Wikipedia.

It is worth mentioning that Vasvári's participation in the meeting is not a coincidence, as his judicial activities after the events of 2006 were strongly linked to the left, and in recent years he has repeatedly attacked our country and government in the foreign press.

The fact that a left-wing diplomat of the Biden administration called in Hungarian judges who are members of a body that oversees the administration of Hungarian courts to a meeting disguised as a friendly chat raises serious sovereignty issues.

Title: What was discussed between the American ambassador and two members of the Judicial Council? – The entire Hungarian press is speculating, but we have now obtained a leaked audio recording of the meeting

Although we cannot know more from official sources about what was discussed during the chat, we have an audio recording that gives us the most important details.

The transcript of the conversation is presented without changes:

- You see, although the translation of my name is purely coincidental, I believe in mutually beneficial collaboration based on common interests and goals. Hungary is an important partner and even friend of America, but it is very important that we strengthen our friendship even more going forward, if you know what I mean.

I'm not sure I understand what we can do for you, but I would like to make it clear first of all that the [Hungarian] jurisprudence is in line with the spirit of legislation and the Fundamental Law, even if I personally have my own opinion on this.

Of course, the most important thing is objective, independent, unbiased judicial work, and although I do not consider myself a political appointee, I am proud that the Biden administration has reduced the number of first- and second-degree convictions of LGBTQ people by 38.55% in the first two years! Let me pour you another glass, Your Honor!

Are you implying that your administration actively influencing sentencing practices at both the federal and state level?

Oh, no, please, where do you think... So we have an ethos of democracy and freedom of speech, and I think the more democratic and just judgments are made, the more the country benefits. I have brought you a brief, strictly confidential recommendation for your attention for the future... purely for interest, of course, but I would respectfully point out that we have already started to put it into practice with our Slovak and Romanian colleagues.

Title: Two Hungarians – The party is still on, which is why Judges Vasvári and Matusik were laughing in the Office of the American Ambassador – Briefing for the Viceroy

Fortunately, they're overdoing it again. The woke Bolsheviks in America sent this Pressman ambassador after us, and he has—with admirable good taste—got to work. Even before he got here, he declared that there were serious problems with democracy and tyranny in Hungary and that he will come down from the clouds and bring us sunshine and LGBTQ rights. And so it has happened.

He descended and, with a photo with his 'husband' and 'children', immediately greeted the Hungarians, who are such boorish bastards that they do not recognise marriage between men and the right to adopt, even though in the 21st century, at least according to people like him, this is a basic principle.

Well, that is why Mr. Pressman has come among us, to bring us Szittyá Huns to our senses. We are, after all, at a rather low level of progress at the moment and not sufficiently receptive to the sacred achievements of liberalism. But rest assured, Pressman—nomen est omen—will squeeze us from his Szabadság tér bunker until we break in.

It is surely a coincidence that as soon as he arrived in our circles, protests started. He doesn't understand. Just like in the days of [André] Goodfriend, who himself, with deep affection, reinforced the rebels against the internet tax and the besiegers of Fidesz' headquarters with his presence. [There is no way he organised it [these events]; he was just on the spot, as a „psychological accomplice”, of course.

Now all sorts of „civil” activists have started protesting, allegedly for teachers' salaries. I'm telling you, it has nothing to do with Mr. Pressman's appearance. The Americans don't organise the overthrow of governments, velvet revolutions, Majdan coups—they don't have five billion dollars to spare for such things, despite Mrs. Nuland's blathering about it... A few days ago, the ambassador shared pictures on the Internet showing him rejoicing with two Hungarian judges, Tamás Matusik and Csaba Vasvári.

So now the party is on, which is why Judges Vasvári and Matusik were laughing in the office of the American ambassador, as if they were reporting to an anointed man of the empire. One thing is for sure: in the photos, the group is very cheerful, as if they were about to get married. What is also certain is that this could hardly happen the other way round, i.e., that the Hungarian ambassador in Washington would call in American judges to mourn local democracy.

But I suspect that we Hungarians would be better off if these Pressman, Vasvári, and Matusik types did not conduct their agendas in secret, within four walls, and negotiate the regulation of Hungary, but instead plastered the Internet with their plans.

Similarly, the way the pale-faced Márki-Zay boasts about the hundreds of millions of dollars he received from the United States for his campaign is to be laughed at.

I think we have no right and no reason to stand in their way as they deconsecrate themselves. Let them do it as often and as loudly as possible, so that all Hungarians will be down in the dumps. They understand what the game is all about.

It's a stroke of luck that the enemies of sovereign Hungary, both at home and abroad, have been going the extra mile, that they have looked at Hungarians like fools and the country as a colony for twelve years. This is the reason why they are getting further and further away from power.

Title: Viceroy Pressman sent a warning

In other words, David Pressman has turned the story upside down. He is not an attacker or an intruder—he is a victim because the „concerted” media attack on him intimidates his would-be negotiators. In such a case, freedom of the press and freedom of opinion, which the “pressmen” and “goodfriends” of the moment are so fond of worrying about, are no longer relevant. Everything matters only as long as their interests require it. And their interests now require them to hoodwink us, blackmail us, create internal political turmoil, and organise demonstrations, because we are not applauding loudly enough for their unipolar world order, which is collapsing. Either we fall in line, or they organise upheaval or in the end, Maidan, here too. As usual.

This is one of the reasons that the left-liberal judges are playing from a foreign score. The other is that the next episode of the anti-Hungarian campaign against the „intimidation” of judges here can be produced on the basis of the justified indignation of the Hungarians. It is all a lie; it is quite obvious. But when did reality and facts matter to them? It's the projection that counts. And then, on the basis of blatant lies spouted a thousand times in Politico and the New York Times, it will be possible to launch further proceedings in Brussels, to take away further resources that we are owed. As usual. These are our „friends”, our „allies”. History shows that it is worth paying them back.

Title: The American ambassador seems to think that the natives should be educated

Why are the two judges who held a meeting with American Ambassador David Pressman not speaking out? From whom, for whom, and how does DK [Demokratikus Koalíció – an opposition party] collect donations? What does Péter Ungár think about the American support? These questions were discussed by Zsolt Bayer, László Néző, András Bencsik, and Ottó Gajdics.

Title: Briefing

With a few forceful slaps, the secretary brought the president to his feet, who looked around the Oval Office with a welcome smile.

It took him a few minutes to understand where he was. He looked to the secretary, who did not disappoint this time, for help.

“Viceroy briefing, Mr. President,” he said, gesturing with his head towards the unfamiliar man waiting patiently on the edge of the carpet.

- “That’s what we call the envoys we send to the colonies.” Like our friend Pressman.

“Pressman? Then he must have a good press...” - he laughed a little at his own joke, then fell asleep again. The secretary woke him up in the usual way. - „Nini, Pressman!” Biden was glad to see him again.

“He is to be the new ambassador to Hungary. It’s an important post, because it’s so near the war, and last time we didn’t succeed in replacing the government, even though we spent a lot of money on it.”

[...]

“Here are our men. Mayors, journalists, deputies, judges. They are the first to be consulted, and their knowledge of the place and the language can be a great help. One problem with them is that most are completely stupid.”

Remember,” continued the [secretary], while the president was grumbling, „whose interests you represent there, behind God’s back. The economy, arms, media, justice...”

Biden woke up.

“What time is it? I have to take my medicine! It’s here somewhere.” - He looked under the desk.

- “You see,” the secretary turned to the ambassador, „it’s a big responsibility. Our president has lost his medication.”

Title: German newspaper: Biden's top gay diplomat takes on Orbán

Welt deals in a lengthy piece with American ambassador, David Pressman. According to the article, the United States has previously remained silent on Hungary's „democratic backwardness,” but this has changed with the nomination of David Pressman as ambassador.

“His very presence here is an affront to Orbán’s culture war,” writes the author, who says that Pressman’s activities so far—such as criticising [Foreign Minister] Péter Szijjártó’s travels—have made him Budapest’s „newest enemy.” The article says it is „undeniably interesting” that a „diplomat of an allied state has become public enemy number one.”

Title: While preserving our sovereignty, we have increased our prestige in the world and, despite the difficulties, we have achieved economic success in 2022 – We have responded to the attacks of the globalists by improving our performance

US Ambassador David Pressman ordered two Hungarian judges to him. In the meanwhile, the Wall Street Journal severely criticizes the Budapest embassy for spreading the woke ideology promoted by Joe Biden. On October 31, András Zs. Varga, President of the Kúria, issued a statement in which he called the American ambassador’s consultation with two members of the National Judicial Council “outrageous.”

Quoting Wikipedia as an objective source; references to the 2006 riots, political affiliation

Title: Origo: The two Hungarian judges negotiating with the American ambassador must resign

The two Hungarian judges negotiating with the American ambassador must resign—this is what judicial independence demands. The two judges may have violated the Judicial Code of Ethics, which justifies their departure.

The meeting caused a clash in judicial circles. The source of this newspaper evaluated the case as gross interference in the Hungarian justice system.

Everything about the role of Csaba Vasvári following the 2006 Gyurcsány terror has disappeared from his Wikipedia page. The removed text recalled, among other things, that after the Budapest riots in the autumn of 2006 and in particular the siege of the MTV headquarters, hundreds of innocent people were arbitrarily detained on the basis of police statements.

After his arrival in Budapest, David Pressman basically threatened the government that if Hungary does not support Finnish and Swedish NATO accession, then Washington will not shy away from applying pressure.

The left-liberal Wall Street Journal described the American diplomat's expressions as elementary school behaviour, not those of a representative of American power.

Title: Judge Vasvári, who visited the American Ambassador, adjudicated in favour of Gyurcsány in 2006

We know very well that an ambassador is very much an extension of executive power, and in this case, a power that serves foreign, and therefore non-Hungarian, interests. Vasvári's visit to Pressman has not only damaged the independence of the judiciary as written in the Fundamental Law but also the position of his own institution.

As days pass by, sadder and sadder connections are revealed on the left that should be enough to make those involved disappear from public life once and for all. However, they shrug off their responsibility like a dog shakes off water.

Title: Two Hungarians – The party is still on, which is why Judges Vasvári and Matusik were laughing in the Office of the American Ambassador – Briefing for the Viceroy

The latter two are members of the notorious National Judicial Council (NJC). The NJC was set up years ago to oversee the administration of the Hungarian courts. In practice, however, it appears to have been set up as a massively politicised, anti-government coterie, echoing the slogans of the left-liberal parties.

It was this group that quasi-denounced the government to the European Networks of Councils for the Judiciary over its administrative courts plan. And it is the members of this council who regularly complain in the national and Western bourgeois newspapers about the state of public affairs in Hungary and the desperate state of the judiciary.

He did not provide any evidence or audio recordings to substantiate his claims, but there is no need for that: what Csaba Vasvári says is certainly true. We have to believe him. In the autumn of 2006, he did not take it easy, either. He threw protesters and passers-by who had been hunted down in the streets into custody without their feet touching the ground. How could the court of appeal have declared that most of these arrests were unfounded and illegal? That many young boys and girls spent long days and weeks behind bars for no reason, locked up with common criminals? Never mind. Csaba Vasvári decided, and that was that.

Vasvári also sentenced Dániel Dukán, a university student, to two and a half years in prison in the first instance, although the prosecutor had only requested a suspended prison sentence. Csaba Vasvári, the judge, who is independent of everything (but mostly of reality), was not fazed by the fact that Dukán had injurie which were obviously caused by a brutal police attack. He considered the ranting of [Péter] Gergényi's police officers—that Dukán was injured because he ran into parked cars three times (!) while fleeing from the scene—to be plausible and realistic.

Interestingly, in 2006, I did not see any Guardian interview with Vasvari in which he lamented the bankruptcy of the Hungarian justice system, pressure from the Gyurcsány government, or the bitterness of innocently imprisoned young people. Only now, in 2022, according to Vasvári, has the end of the world come: now that it is not only they, the red-blooded judges, who decide everything, but the others, the honest judges, who can rap their knuckles.

Title: Biden's man met with Gyurcsány's blood judge at the US Embassy

Vasvári's participation in the meeting is not a coincidence, as after the events of 2006 his judicial activities were strongly related to the political left. In recent years, he has repeatedly attacked our country and the Hungarian government in the foreign press.

For a long time, there had been text on Judge Csaba Vasvári's Wikipedia page, which indicated, though with inaccuracies, that he had issued serious sentences and pretrial detention orders against innocent protesters without real evidence during the 2006 brutal police violence.

Title: More leftist threads emerge among those who excuse the Pressman scandal

Vasvári's best-known and most scandalous case in the press was the trial of a 23-year-old university student, Dániel Dukán, for whom the prosecution had only asked for a suspended prison sentence, but Vasvári, as trial judge, sentenced him to two and a half years in prison without any concrete evidence, based only on the testimonies of the police officers who beat Dukán. The Budapest Court of Appeal, in the second instance, finally reduced the sentence to suspended.

National Judicial Council, President of the Kúria, National Office for the Judiciary

Title: Zoltán Lomnici Jr. to 888: Ambassador Pressman's recent move is open interference in Hungarian internal affairs

Zoltán Lomnici Jr.: András Zs. Varga, President of the Kúria, pointed out in his statement that, to his knowledge, the representatives of the judiciary have received and will receive ambassadors in their offices, if they so request. However, the President said he had no information that the relationship between the NJC and the American ambassador had been on the agenda of either of the two October meetings of the NJC. He was also not aware, he continued, that anyone had authorised the members of the NJC to express their critical views to a representative of another country, and anyway, the NJC President should have requested authorisation for the meeting. He also made it clear that ambassadors and envoys are political actors. An ambassador's official title is „Ambassador Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary” or „Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary”. As part of the executive branch, they act on the instructions of the President, Prime Minister, or Foreign Minister of their own country. In my view, the above-mentioned professional opinion of the President of the highest judicial forum does not need to be supplemented in this respect.

Title: The NJC is excusing

The case of the two judges who met the American ambassador was also discussed at Wednesday's meeting of the NJC, but according to a summary of the meeting, there was no suggestion that their visit had affected their judicial independence. János Bánáti, president of the Hungarian Bar Association, also defended the judges, while András Zs. Varga, president of the Kuria, maintained his earlier position, Mandiner reported.

Title: According to the NOJ (National Office for the Judiciary) the judges' meeting with the American ambassador is a cause for concern

The NOJ, headed by György Barna Senyei, told our newspaper that the justification for and legality of the meeting is clearly questionable and therefore open to criticism.

According to the NOJ, however, the situation is the result of a specific regulatory shortcoming: the law on the organisation and status of the judiciary does not distinguish clearly enough between the limits of public participation by a judge and public participation by a judge acting in a non-judicial capacity.

Title: President of the Kúria on the meeting with the American ambassador: the Vienna Convention was not respected

„If one goes into the political arena, one is no longer protected by judicial independence. This must be taken into account,” András Zs. Varga, President of the Kúria, emphasized in during the debate, the article reported. According to him, one cannot put an end to this by claiming that this is not politicization.

Any official business with the host state that the sending state has entrusted its representation with must be handled by or through the foreign ministry of the host state or another ministry designated by common agreement.

„In the event that these rules have not been respected, it should not be surprising that criticism will be voiced. In this case, there is not a simple irregularity, but breaching the law. The law of the Vienna Convention has not been complied with,” the President of the Kúria stressed in his speech.

Title: The rebellious judicial body is a reference point in the EU's rule of law reports

We have examined the rule of law reports that have been bandied about in Brussels as an indictment of our country and come to an interesting conclusion. The introduction and the sub-chapter on the judicial independence in last year's document and that of the year before last are in many respects identical. Some paragraphs have been specifically copy-pasted from the 2021 report into the 2022 one. In both years, Amnesty International, the Hungarian Helsinki Committee, and the National Judicial Council provided the ammunition for the changed and unchanged sections.

In November 2020, an astonishing study with the above title was published by Viktor Vadász and his co-author in the German liberal legal forum Verfassungsblog.de, which claims to be respected. Vadász, who was then also an active judge and a member of the NCJ, added his name to ideas such as:

The name of the former judge, Viktor Vadász, also comes up here. Amnesty International's Szilvia Balassa, Judit Kende, and Orsolya Selymes gave a lecture on „Stereotyping, prejudice, discrimination” at the Hungarian Justice Academy. But we also reported that Viktor Vadász must have had a fit of rage when Parliament's Committee on Justice took apart the submission demanding the dismissal of the President of the National Office of the Judiciary (NOJ), and he suddenly tweeted in English that „Tünde Handó = Fidesz”. The statement, which might seem like a harmless quip from anyone's pen, is tantamount to a confession from the spokesperson of the National Judicial Council (NJC), suggesting that the unreceptive promoters of judicial independence are actually plotting the fall of the government.

In sum, the parts concerning the NJC of the two documents are about two-thirds identical., so much so that there is hardly any difference in the number of footnotes in the subsection on the independence of the judiciary (2021:61, 2022:60), and the source of the material presenting Hungary in a negative light in both years is Amnesty International, the Hungarian Helsinki Committee, and the judicial council at the organisational level. In neither case was the government or a non-liberal NGOs asked for an opinion on the independence of the judiciary. However, the dates in the footnotes show that the editors worked mostly and in principle from recent materials. This could mean two things: either a number of findings were ignored, or both the NGOs working under their thumb and the NJC sent a minimally updated briefing from last year to the Brussels-Strasbourg bureaucrats.

The whole report, by the way, took into account the views of nearly sixty organisations in 2021, 16 of which have some form of connection with the state or the right. The same in 2022: 11 out of just over forty. This may explain the imbalance. There are many question marks around the EU rule of law report, but one thing seems to be certain: the document, which is being floated as an indictment of Hungary and [justification for] the withholding of funds due to our country, is a pat, the compilation of which is being driven to a decisive extent by organisations supported by the George Soros Open Society network of foundations and the National Judicial Council.

Title: Hungarians reject US interference in domestic politics

It has caused a stir in the Hungarian public discourse that the US Embassy in Hungary published a video on its Twitter page which portrays leading pro-government politicians and various public opinion leaders in a negative light, and that American Ambassador David Pressman held a confidential meeting with two Hungarian judges who are members of the National Judicial Council. A November Századvég poll surveyed Hungarians' opinion on the role of the Embassy of the United States in Hungary's domestic affairs.

The survey shows that Hungarian voters strongly oppose any attempt to interfere with the relationship between Hungary and the United States. In contrast, they overwhelmingly support the maintenance of friendly relations based on respect for diplomatic rules.

Accordingly, more than three quarters of Hungarians (76 percent) believe that the United States should maintain a relationship with Hungary based on partnership and respect for diplomatic rules, and refrain from interfering in the country's internal affairs.

The proportion of those who think that the US should play an active role in Hungarian domestic politics, and that the US should criticise the Hungarian government if it deems it necessary, is 18%.

Similarly, nearly two-thirds of respondents (65 percent) disagree with the US Embassy directly expressing its views on Hungarian domestic policy issues, while 31 percent approve.
